The incubators which have completed their first three weeks of work have their part and as a result 425 large chicks were removed to the brooder house on Wednesday. The total number of eggs set was 746; after making the two hatchings on Feb. 7 and one on Feb. 14, 123 infertile eggs and dead germs were removed, leaving 623 good eggs in the two incubators to hatch. From those eggs which were fertile, we got 68 per cent hatch. On one lot of 100 eggs put in the incubator, 15 infertile ones were removed and 60 fine Barred Rock chicks were hatched.

Frank Kimball of Freeport was in town, Saturday. Elgin Greenleaf has sold his garage and battery station at Ashland and Philip Noble of this town. Mr. Greenleaf will move to the Earl Barker farm that he bought some months ago and specialize in orchard products.

HEYWOOD CLUB

Heywood Club met, Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16, with Mrs. Fred J. Lovejoy at hostess. Mrs. Mary Millett and Mr. Edna Henshaw, Mrs. Mary Millett and Mr. Edna Henshaw were present.

Our president, Adelaide Young; Floretta Noble and Addie Thurston, who came in a sleigh, ran in contact with a snow drift. The top of Thurston's sleigh was overturned. Club women are of the persevering and not easily discouraged, and having faith in "Gram Dunham's" advice that "outdoors exercise is good for the health." Floretta liked back to the nearest farm house, procured a shovelful and shoveled thus the snowdrift.

Young then plotted the team safely through and they proceeded on their way. Meeting was called to order. All officers present excepting Secretary, Inez Parker. A committee to visit sick members and carry fruit, flowers, etc., was suggested and accepted and president Mrs. Young appointed Una Jackson as chairman of the committee for that work.

The program was carried out in Valentine's office. Mrs. Lovejoy decorated her spacious living room with Valentine's decorations. The first number on the program was the visit of the postcard and the "Happily Ever After" valentines, each one receiving a Valentine, while his little sister, Lillian, sang a song.

Her mother, Bessie, then sang a song, "The History of the Flag," by Verna Millett, and a poem, "February," by Una Jackson. Several interesting topics were talked over, including the possibility of more improvements to the Club Hall, by Una Jackson, and plans made by which to earn money to use for those improvements.

"The Apron Agent"

The brown clad man went whistling up the flagged walk of the Daggett sisters—now and then casting an appraising eye on the old fashioned garden, with twists and little paths wound in and out. The old studded old house itself breathed of antiquity. A picked fence surrounded this little place of olden times.

The man reared for the old fashioned broad knocker—knock, knock, knock. Silence.

"Knock! Knock! Knock!"

An inside door opened—footsteps on the hall floor—the outside door opened. A woman of forty or thereabouts—wearing a worried expression—looked questioning-ly at him.

"Good morning, Madam, may I show you the 'Patty' house apron—it is especially designed for an all around utility apron—it is."

"Come in, my sister Beth would like to see them—she or I or we would like just at present—had you just seen wait until she is at liberty?" She led him into the kitchen, while speaking.

"Martha—where have you been—bring in a cup of warm milk immediately—I think she will drink some now." The door closed.

Martha obediently got the milk—poured some in a blue willow ware cup—warmed it with a dill of water from the old iron teakettle on the range—set the cup in a matching saucer and was gone.

The agent took in the kitchen details with interest. The small muslin hung windows through which the morning sun shone, the poor dear, poor Betty she is so young herself. I'll be so glad when she is over. Get that old blanket in that bottom drawer—no, not that one, it's under old petticoats—yes, that's it, warm it thoroughly—we don't want to chill her.

They apparently had completely forgotten the apron agent—who decided from their conversation that there was a person in the house—probably the other sister—she having heard that there were three of them. He decided he would leave at the first opportunity.

"I'll fix up some little box to hold their little eyes—where is that box of medicated cotton—never mind, I've found it."

The door closed once more.

Boric acid—wash their eyes out! Sound kind of funny. While he was mulling this over in his mind, the door opened and Martha hurried out—reached on the shelf for a medicine dropper—informing the agent that there wasn't no such thing.

For one man who works himself to death ten thousands die from lack of exercise, overeating, late hours, or avoidance of the sun. Added to these, the work from hiccups are about equally rare.

Work develops; work induces, promotes and compels growth; work lays a corner-stone in the super-structure whose place can not be filled by a substitute.

Work is the greatest actuator, greatest accelerator that any person can attach to his job, but all this time let it be understood that we mean intelligent work, intelligently applied.

Useless effort counts for nothing; the spasmodic, unintelligent worker is comparable to the man who hops over the wall, forever hopping up and slipping back.

Hard work will not at all take the place of judgment, thoughtfulness, tact nor the ability to get along with others. However, it always means a successful career.

Working and liking it is normal existence. It is also the most lasting form of enjoyment. But to many people, work is an ugly word.

Work And Its Rewards

We sometimes hear of people who work themselves to death, just as we hear of ghosts and man-eating sea serpents. And at the time we know "there ain't no such thing."

For one man who works himself to death ten thousands die from lack of exercise, overeating, late hours, or avoidance of the sun. Added to these, the work from hiccups are about equally rare.

Work develops; work induces, promotes and compels growth; work lays a corner-stone in the super-structure whose place can not be filled by a substitute.

Second Winter Carnival

Of the Oxford County United Parish,
Under the Direction of the Crooked
River Outing Club

It snowed a foot in Boston, it blew a gale off Cape Cod, Portland with the rest of the Atlantic seaboard, was well socked by a hurricane, but all but the sun was shining in North Waterford for the Second Winter Carnival, last Saturday. At ten o'clock, the crowd of one hundred and fifty single teams, by double teams, by four horse teams, on skis, on snowshoes, and on foot, from East Stoneham, North Lovell, and its suburbs, Slab City and Slide Mountain, from Albany, Bethel, from Norway, from Harrison, Bridgton, from Paris, from East Waterford, Waterford Flat, and South Waterford—just to mention some of the towns represented—moved over toward the ski jump where the first events of the day were held. Five different contests were staged here, starting with the Junior ski jump, which was won by Liston Brown.

The boys in the Intermediate Class followed, with Donald Brown taking first place over Don Nason and Stanley Lord. The girls were not to be "stumped" by the boys, either, and their event was won by Leona Kimball. The big jump of the Senior Class was won by John Fox, of Slab City, Lovell. Miss Pulkkinen, of Bridgton Academy, won in the Junior event for the girls. Several long distance races, followed by dashes for various classes were run off before dinner. In these events, Don Brown, Don Green, John Fox, Isabelle Jones, Mary Hersey, Mrs. Pulkkinen and Fredrick Callahan, were counted among the winners.

Not must we fail to mention the closing event of the morning, the tug of war, in which George Kimball's Giants triumphed by a narrow margin over the "Hubbards' Huskies." We noted the "Huskies' extreme activity in getting the "Hubbards" together, but we are obliged to report that without doubt the failure of his team was due to the modesty of the Doctor, who gave up his position on the tug to Solon McAllister.

Of the dinner, we have heard nothing but wonderful words of praise. It was a marvel, where the food all came from to appease the appetite of the crowd that had been sharpened by the chill atmosphere of the morning. It mattered not whether you sat down at the first table, or whether you sat down at the last, for with waiters, there was all the chicken and turkey wanted to eat. The wings and gizzards were conspicuous by their absence. In fact, if you could have seen the cream pie that the waitresses had saved for their tables, you would have been rather sorry to think that you had eaten so early.

We wish we could tell you all about the sports of the afternoon, but we are afraid that the "Advertiser" may wish to print some other news this week, so we will be able to touch just some of the high spots. Among the features of the program were the skidding race, the piglet and primary races, the Senior ski dashes, the obstacle and three-legged races, the town relay race, the penny-hunt, and the free-for-all cross country. The last race was the hardest contest of the day, but brought in K. Aldrich of Norway; Myron Lord of North Waterford; John Fox of Lovell, and L. Pulkkinen of Bridgton Academy.

One of the interesting races followed, it was when the judges and the awards committees began to go over the records and ballots to determine the selection of the Queen and the high point winners of the day. The cup presented by the Crooked River Outing Club for the high point winner of the day, was won by Donald Brown, of Albany, and the North Waterford Grammar School, who competed in the Intermediate Class. Green was runner up, with Miss Pulkkinen, the highest point winner among the girls, landing in third place. Honorable mention is also due to Mary Hersey, Leona Kimball, Kathleen Lord, Isabelle Jones, Daniel Nason, John Fox, K. Aldrich, and Fredrick Callahan.

In the meantime the appetites again demanded attention. The rest of the day was filled with hungry people, and at this hour the Grange at North Waterford served the usual Saturday night beans and brown bread. In a very short time, with hardly time to change from broilers to evening gown, the I. O. O. F. Hall became the goal of all. We wish you might have seen the hall for yourself. Under the leadership of Mrs. Windfall Brown and her efficient committee, the hall had been transformed into an appetizing hunting lodge, with a display of Indian blankets, mounted birds, deer heads and other trophies of the hunt artistically displayed in a background of evergreen. At an early hour the hall was thronged with a crowd reported by "Noll" Knight and other old-timers as unequalled in the history of the building.

A little after eight o'clock, from the stage floor, appeared the Carnival Queen, Miss Kathleen Lord, who had won the coveted honor through her own good work in competition, and also by popular vote, according to the rules of the Carnival. Miss Isabelle Jones had the highest popular vote and others were higher in competition than Miss Kathleen, but she had the combination of the two that was not to be overcome. She was escorted to the throne by Ralph Knight, president of the Crooked River Outing Club, and the crown was placed on her head by Donald Brown, the high point winner of the day. Then the cups were awarded and the prize ribbons were distributed to the winners, who in several instances appeared very much pleased by the number of ribbons pinned onto their coats.

Then after music furnished by Andrews' orchestra, the curtain went up and everyone settled back to enjoy the drama. The comments of many would seem to indicate that they did enjoy the play, too. Indeed, the highest praise has been given the east, for the skill with which they depicted the characters of the comedy. The title of the play was "A Couple of Millions." Ralph Knight, in the leading part of Benis Bennington, who earned the right to inherit his uncle's millions, exceeded even his usual quality of acting. Ruth Holt, last year's Carnival Queen, lived in well as the leading lady, Miss Fairbanks, a Southern belle, who did not throw over Benis, even though she found that he was not "Blinky Huggs, the wife murderer." As a leading New York lawyer, Earle Libby showed a good deal of ability in combination in his character of Mr. Wise, the dignity due his profession and the good nature of a rather elderly suitor. If you did not see "Stinky," you missed a star.

In the first act, as Mr. Wise's office boy showed an interest only in baseball and "kidding the stove." By the way, we have forgotten to tell you that Myron Lord took the part of Stinky, and Mrs. Lord, that of the stenographer, Miss McGuffee. Mr. Wise might find fault with his office force, but the audience was not to criticize their acting. When "Stinky," however, was transported to the South, the balmy air of Alabama seemed to soften his nature somewhat, and as the beautiful lover, winning Miss Sammie Bell Porter, he took his part to perfection. Indeed he might have, for Mrs. Clara Brown, as Sammie Bell, a charming Alabama, might easily have won the heart of any susceptible youth, and it would not take two guesses to tell what happened in the rose arbor. It is small wonder also, that when the time for the "matchmaking up" occurred in the last act, Mrs. Charlie Courtenay, as acted by Mrs. Mary Holt, should make Mr. Wise see that it is never too late to mend the ways of a lonely bachelor, for Mrs. Holt's delination of the character is ever carefully and well done. Prof. Noah Jabb, of Opaolopa, her escort during part of the play, proved to be the villain. This part was taken by Wilbur Bull, and, as someone said, "You never can tell what these ministers will do." We hope, however, neither they nor the professors are just like Noah Jabb. The country sheriff, himself held prisoner by the charms of Miss Fairbanks, was well acted by Frank Pike, while Chester Holt, as his friend, Squire Piper, played the part of the country "bench warmer" in a manner that was justly rewarded with much praise. At the foot of the list stands the one word "Pink," but no one who saw the play is soon going to forget that very amiable lady of color as portrayed with great ability by Mrs. Ruth Wentworth. We believe no names have been omitted, and they should not be, for according to reports, each of the players acted their part well.

Between the first and second acts Myron Lord gave a reading, and music was furnished then and between the other acts by members of the Andrews family, assisted by Messrs. Barnham Rice and Barton Files. A brief word of thanks and appreciation for the service and help given so freely by so very many was spoken in behalf of the United Parish and the Outing Club, by Mr. Wentworth, just before the last act. Then, after the curtain fell at the end of the play, followed by another one of the foot-stirring scenes of the Andrews Orchestra, the 1927 Carnival of the Oxford County United Parish, under the direction of the Crooked River Outing Club passed into the history of happy memories. Before, however, we turn toward the Carnival for next year, we wish to express our gratitude to those of the following committees, as well as to the members of the Circle and Grange and the others whose names are not printed, but who so willingly did what was needed to help make the Carnival the success so many feel it has been.

The committees:
Sponsor Committee: Frank Pike, Otis Cobb, Gwendolyn Pike, Edith Holt, Ray Andrews, Earl Libby, Earl Holt, Percy Kimball.
Grounds Committee: Chester Holt, Leona Lovell, Lee Lord, Rags boys, George Allen.

EAST STONEHAM
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McAllister visited at Bert Kendall's, in Lovell, Sunday. Lucie McAllister spent a few days at Errol Barker's, last week. Milton Barker has been sick with a cold.

Bernal McAllister's family have all been sick with bad colds the past week. Cecil Barker has been sick with tonsillitis and Mrs. Gus Andrews has also been sick with a bad cold. There doesn't seem to be any escape there, each one seems to have to take their turn.

Roger Adams of Norway spent Saturday night and Sunday at C. L. Chaplin's. There were about fifty in all from Stoneham attended the carnival and drama at North Waterford, Saturday.

Henry McAllister and Lena Locke were united in marriage, Friday evening, Feb. 18th. They will spend the rest of the winter at W. L. McAllister's so he is working for V. H. Littlefield.

Gladys Parker, who has been working for Mrs. Wilfred Conary, at Norway, has returned home. Little Dighton Barker has been sick the past week with a bad cold.

John Barker is back at work in the mill, running the boiler. Johnnie Files of Norway was in town on business, one day last week.

Robert Trimback has been sick with a cold and stomach trouble. The Sewing Bee met at the home of Mrs. Emma Johnson, Thursday, entertained by Emma Johnson and Georgie McAllister. A large crowd was present and much work accomplished. The next one will be held in two weeks at the church vestry.

The dance, Friday evening, was well attended and a very pleasant time reported. The balloon dance was won by Charles Fox and Frances Button. The committees in charge are working hard to make these dances a success. Mr. and Mrs. Henry McAllister will hold a public reception in the K. of P. Hall, Friday evening, Feb. 25.

Minnehaha Temple No. 55, Pythian Sisters, held their regular meeting, Friday afternoon, with all the officers present. After the meeting, a lunch of cakes, lemonade and homemade candy was served by Louise Littlefield, Inez Farrington and Violet Doughty. The guessing contest was won by Maud McAllister and the bouquet prize went to Emma Johnson. They will act as the entertainment committee for the next meeting.

WOODSTOCK
The women of the Farm Bureau met at the Grange Hall, Feb. 17, the subject was Unusual Desserts. Dinner was served at noon. The menu was fish chowder, dark bread, butter, and three kinds of desserts which were prepared there. The dinner committee were Mrs. E. F. Willard, Mrs. R. F. Willard and Mrs. H. S. Day. The Roll Call was readily responded to with their favorite dessert and the recipe for the same. There were twenty members present. The next meeting will be March 17, on Millinery. Roll Call, Why I Make My Own Hats.

H. Otis Noyes is at home from Columbia University. Adelaide Emery is spending a few days at home. Clyde Brooks, James Brown and James Billings from Lewiston, were at home over the week end. Jay Willard from Gould's Academy was at home over the week end. Mrs. R. F. Willard went to Ryegate, Vt., Saturday, to be with her mother, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peverly of Wakefield are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Peverly.

LOCKE'S MILLS
Mrs. Charles Day and Ruby are on a two weeks' visit with relatives in West Paris and Lewiston. Mrs. Eva Long and children visited her sister, Mrs. Ben Tyler, at Bethel, a few days last week. While she was there Mr. and Mrs. Tyler celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary. The regular meeting of the Westside Sewing Club was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Coolidge, Wednesday afternoon. Edna walking kept many at home but those present passed a very pleasant afternoon.

Mrs. Bertha Kimball is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spinnery over Sunday. Mrs. Eva Stowell and Mrs. Ruth Ring attended the Farm Bureau meeting at Bethel, Friday.

Uncle Lem's Sayings

Ex-Governor Gifford Pinchot of Penn., addressed the Legislature of Maine, on the subject of the conservation of our Water Power. He would have Government Regulation for the whole country. His peculiar views do not run in the views of the business men of our State, who should know what is best for us. The ringing editorial in the Kennebec Journal of Saturday last, on this subject, should be read by every citizen of the state.

Who is this man Pinchot, anyway, and who cares a rap for what he says? He had it in his power while Governor of his state, to have the nefarious laws relating to coal mining modified and the tax on exported coal abolished. He did nothing of the kind. What does he care how much the coal using people of New England are robbed and gouged? He is a pretty man to coddle anywhere in these six states. Hon. John P. Swasey once crawled all over him in a public speech. He could do it again today, old as he is. This Pinchot spent $100,000 trying to be nominated for United States Senator, O. Vare put out six times that amount or more and was nominated. The Senate will probably refuse to seat Vare. Heaven save us from all such political plotters as these, whom they raise out in Pennsylvania.

There is another millionaire ex-governor who is trying to get back into public life at the callow of Maine. He is charging the people who use light and power more than they should. This may be true, but as the rates are not apparently higher now than for several years, the milk in the coconut is this: Ex-Gov. Baxter was seemingly willing the people should be squeezed while the company was managed by Maine men. The Ex-Governor has not been happy in his selection of issues to keep him in the public eye. He has been a disturber of party harmony and not a savior. He was not yet realize that he is as politically dead as his once famous dog, but he will later on.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald, noting a daisy cut encounter in Congress, gives an account of them from the beginning of the Government. He omits one where Barksdale of Missouri and a member of his own party came to blows in the House over the slavery question, just before the Civil War, which he did proceed far, involved a large part of the members. A laughable feature of the fight was that Barksdale's wig was torn from his head in the melee. Barksdale commanded a brigade in McLean's division of Louisiana, Corps at Gettysburg, where before his chief was ready to order the advances, he had repeatedly urged "to be let loose upon the Yankees and in the charge that the order was finally given Barksdale was mortally wounded and died in our lines.

The report on the status of our Maine Senator, Hon. Arthur R. Gould, has been long incoming, but it is "dollars to doughnuts" that he retains his seat. It has been reported that certain prominent Maine politicians have recently tried to influence adverse action. If this is so, it will end beyond all question, their hopes of future leadership or prominence. They can waste their time in their own party when they wish to reflect on what killed them politically.—Uncle Lem.

Getting Up Nights

For Bladder Relief is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 824 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio, says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used lithiated buchu (Keller Formula). She would have to get up 4 or 5 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated buchu acts on the bladder as opium salts on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at L. V. Ashton's, drugist.

BETHEL

"Are You a Mason?" Took Well—Guests Enjoying Winter Sports.

Mike Marshall is having his house wired for electric lights. His home is the home of the hostess, near the old bridge, so called. Mr. Barker was a pump maker in the old days.

Harry Brown visited his sister, Cora Brown, in Auburn, recently.

Among those who have recently installed radios in their home, is Dr. R. R. Tibbitts.

The three act play, "Are You a Mason?" given by the parent-teachers' association, called out a record audience of one hundred or more were in attendance who had an evening's enjoyment. A dance followed and homemade candy was on sale. It is hoped the play will be repeated.

Miss Alice Copen entertained the Ladies' Aid at the Prof. W. R. Chapman home, the 17th.

The Rev. C. B. Oliver has quite recently returned from a visit to the States and is attending to his pastoral duties.

Miss Olive Austin and Beatrice Brown were in Lewiston and Auburn, recently.

Miss Brown visited her aunt, Miss Cora Brown, who has recovered from an auto accident.

Mrs. Edgar Chase is suffering from a second attack of a bad cold.

Bethel Inn has a large number of guests enjoying the winter sports and enjoying sleigh and sled rides. One guest is much interested in the town as she is a direct descendant of Nathaniel Segar, who, with Benjamin, was kidnapped by the Indians in 1781. Segar lived on what is now called the Sunflower Farm, in what is now Hanover, but was once a part of the north side of the Lower Parish in Bethel. The Segars came from Newton, Mass.
